1. Introduction

This document sets out the policy for handling complaints at Synnovis Group, Synnovis Services and Synnovis Analytics and applies to all staff, contractors, students and those on honorary contracts.

Patient and customer complaints are important and fundamental for continuous improved patient and customer experience, the safe delivery of clinical care and performance standards. All employees' welcome complaints and compliments from patients and customers.

Synnovis provides medical laboratory services for NHS funded patients as well as other private healthcare providers and therefore has a contractual obligation to follow the statutory requirements and best practice guidance from the Department of Health and the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman's Principles of Good Complaint Handling 2009 (www.ombudsman.org.uk).

Synnovis follows the Health Service Ombudsman's Six Principles of Good Complaints Handling:

All complainants, regardless of race, disability, age, religion or belief, gender and sexual orientation, should be treated with respect and receive a thorough investigation of their complaint and a response. A patient's care will not be detrimentally affected because they have made a complaint.

2. Responsibility

2.1 Synnovis Group Board

The Synnovis Group Board ensures that there are clear policies and procedures for the handling of concerns and complaints, and that appropriate expertise and resources are available to enable its responsibilities to be effectively completed.

2.2 Chief Executive Officer

The Chief Executive Officer (CEO) is the Accountable Officer with overall responsibility for ensuring that concerns and complaints are appropriately managed and that any lessons learnt are shared and actioned appropriately.

The CEO undertakes this role by ensuring that the Board are regularly updated, by personal leadership and approach to develop a culture where lessons are learnt and acted upon, at all levels of Synnovis, and by ensuring that the policy and procedures are carried out.

The CEO is accountable for ensuring that a specified Board Director oversees the successful management of complaints and concerns and has delegated the responsibility to the Managing Director (MD).

2.3 Managing Director

The Managing Director has the responsibility for concern and complaint handling. The MD is a member of the Synnovis Governance, Quality & Risk Assurance Committee.

The MD delegates the day-to-day responsibilities to the Directors of Operations/General Managers, with the Divisional Director for Support Services taking the overall lead for Customer Services.

2.4 Medical Director

The Synnovis Medical Director (MedD) is responsible for supporting the MD, and ensuring that the patient experience and clinical care elements of concerns and complaints, with actual or potential implications for patient safety, are investigated and acted upon appropriately and promptly.

The MedD is responsible for ensuring that Duty of Candor is undertaken when a patient has raised concerns or a complaint. S/He is a member of the Synnovis Governance, Quality & Risk Assurance Committee.

The MedD delegates the day-to-day monitoring to the Synnovis Head of Quality and laboratory services to the service Clinical Lead/Strategic Clinical Leads.

2.5 Directors of Operations/General Managers/Heads of Departments

Directors of Operations, General Managers and Heads of Departments are responsible for ensuring that all complaints and concerns raised in their portfolio, are recorded, and investigated promptly, with high quality and factual responses, and that action plans are implemented, monitored and evaluated within agreed timescales.

All employees have a responsibility to read this policy and be able to respond appropriately to a complainant. All attempts will be made to resolve the concern or complaint immediately. If this is not possible, then the concern/complaint will be escalated via your line manager.

2.6 Head of Customer Services

The Head of Customer Services is responsible for the quality assurance of responses and manages/oversees all complaints. The Head of Customer Services will provide advice and support to the Customer Services and will co-ordinate and review all responses to ensure they meet the points raised and within the given timescales. The Head of Customer Services is also responsible for:

- compiling regular analytical reports covering patterns and trends in complaints received
- ensuring that complaints training is available to staff company wide as part of the Learning & Development training calendar
- quality assurance of final complaint response

3. Complaints Escalation Process

Complaints can come directly from customers who have a direct relationship with Synnovis or via the host Trust.

The aim of this policy is to ensure that all complaints (formal or informal) will be treated in a courteous and empathetic manner.

Each complaint is directed to the Customer Services team, so they can be logged and directed to the relevant investigating manager. This will also ensure that all aspects of the complaint are reviewed and responded to thus reducing the risk of follow up complaints being received.

The complaints process will be clear and accessible to all and will offer a personal approach to achieving resolution locally where possible.

Complaints will be dealt with in a culture of openness in an environment, which seeks to use all feedback to improve the current service provision.

Complaints will be used to improve the patient and customer experience.

A complaint can be managed via informal or formal routes and this is normally indicated by the complainant. Synnovis encourage staff to resolve minor problems immediately via an informal method which is usually addressed within 24 hours. These informal concerns should be recorded locally for learning purposes and shared with the Customer Services team monthly.

Formal complaints are normally those issues that require an investigation within the agreed timescale.

NHS timescales for formal complaints are within 25 working days from the date of receiving the complaint. Complaints vary in complexity and the time required to investigate; therefore, it is important that the complainant is involved in discussion regarding the target timescale. Synnovis aim to ensure all complaints are dealt within this timeframe however where this is not possible, this is communicated to the complainant (via the host Trust, if appropriate).

4. Learning from Complaints

Synnovis is committed to learning from complaints through a robust process which enables the organisation to maximise learning for the future and reduce the likelihood of recurrence. More details of the learning process are provided in the Appendix 1.

5. Compliments / feedback forms

Compliments can all too easily be overlooked or forgotten, but they form an important part of any balanced picture of how well Synnovis serves its patients and their carers.

Departments who collate feedback from their service users via a feedback form should ensure these are collated and shared with the Customer Service team and their host Trust (where appropriate). By sharing this information, this supports the service improvements required for the service or confirmation the service is meeting the needs of its users.

6. Recording of Complaints, compliments and feedback

It is the responsibility of senior managers to ensure their teams are recording complaints, compliments and feedback appropriately.

These should be recorded so that the following criteria is covered:

- Corrective actions taken
- The Root causes
- Preventive actions identified

There should be local procedures in place for how the recording of such feedback and how this is used if it differs from this procedure.

Synnovis will record these using QPulse, ICCE workbooks, Datix, ServiceNow or Salesforce.

Customer service will use ServiceNow as the central customer records management system (CRM). All complaints, compliments and feedback raised to customer services will be recorded on the CRM to ensure that these are monitored effectively.

A monthly report will be produced to ensure that the data collected is utilised to identify trends and areas of concern. It will also be used for sharing examples of good practice across Synnovis.

To raise a complaint by email, contact synnovis.customerservices@nhs.net with the content of your complaint along with contacts details so that a response to your complaint can be shared with you after the investigation is complete.
